

Ethics Consultation Service

What is the Ethics Consultation Service?

- Difficult decisions are made in the hospital and may require support.
- These decisions may be about your, or your loved one's, care.
- Ethics provides a supportive setting for discussion and communication about ethical issues you may be experiencing.

Who can use the Ethics Consultation Service?

- Anyone may access Ethics Consultation Resource, at any time, for any reason.
- As a patient or family member, you do not need to tell the care team prior to reaching out.

Why should I use the Ethics Consultation Service?

- An ethical issue can emerge anytime values are involved in care and decision-making.
- Ethicists can help you navigate questions, problems, and decisions.

What can I expect?

At the consultation we will:

- Identify the issue or issues
- Clarify the medical, psychological, social information, and context
- Identify ethical principles and values in conflict
- Explore options that emerge.
- Facilitate decision-making between you and your healthcare team
- Ethicists will not impose solutions or make any decisions for you.

Is the service confidential?

- Ethicists is bound by NHH policy concerning the release of patient information and the Ontario Personal Health Information Protection Act.

Ethics Consultation Service

- A summary of the consultation may be added as part of the patient’s health record.

Who provides the consult?

- Ethicists with graduate degrees and specialized training in bioethics provide all consults.

Here are some example cases:

- Anna-Mae is a 43-year old patient at NHH. She does not want care and wishes to be discharged home. Her team wants her to stay and are indicating that if she doesn’t comply they will make her incapable. Anna-Mae knows she is capable, but is worried this might be taken away from her.
- Minh is a 71 year-old man with dementia who has been declining over the past few months. He is incapable and his son Trang is his substitute decision-maker. The team has approached Trang to discuss options, but he does not know what his father would want done. He feels stuck and wishes someone could help.

We use the IDEA Ethics Framework to work through an ethical issue
I	IDENTIFY - the facts
D	DETERMINE - ethical principles in conflict
E	EXPLORE - options
A	ACT - on your decision, and evaluate it

How can I contact an Ethicist?

- Contact Ethics at ethics@nhh.ca, or connect with a member of the care team.
